INJURY BIOMECHANICS

We are pleased to welcome Dennis Chimich as our November speaker.

In this presentation, Dennis will discuss the use of biomechanics in assessing and understanding injury producing events. Sub topics include injury patterns, mechanisms of injury, the forces required to cause injury, and factors influencing the risk of injury in a given event. Several case studies will also be presented to demonstrate the application of the injury biomechanics to specific injurious incidents including slips, trips, and falls, motor vehicle collisions and recreational activities.

Dennis is a Senior Biomechanical Engineer at MEA Forensic Engineers & Scientists in Vancouver. As a Senior Biomechanical Engineer, he investigates how injuries happen in vehicle collisions, slips and falls, product failures and sporting events. He has worked on numerous cases during his forensic career and has testified as an expert witness in Court.

Dennis obtained his Bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Alberta and a Master's degree in civil engineering (biomechanics) from the University of Calgary.

Please join us for this informative and interactive discussion.
